NAVY REPORTS UNITED STATES DESTROYER TORPEDOED

SHIP STRUCK WHILE ON PATROL DUTY IN VICINITY OF ICELAND

Washington, Oct. 17.—(AP)—The Navy announced that the destroyer Kearny was torpedoed this morning while on patrol duty about 350 miles south and west of Iceland.

The Navy said no casualties were indicated in the dispatches received by the department and, despite the damage, the ship was able to proceed under her own power.

Lieutenant Commander A. L. Danis was the commander. The Kearny, completed only last year, is one of the Navy's newest destroyers.

Armed with the standard 5-inch gun battery carried by ships of her class, the Kearny is 341 feet long, has a 35-foot beam and displacement of 1,650 tons. No other details were available, the Navy said.

The position given for the torpedo attack was the same general area where the destroyer Greer was attacked unsuccessfully by a submarine more than a month ago.

It was the first torpedoing since President Roosevelt's speech of September 11, which gave the fleet its shoot-on-sight orders and barred all "defensive waters" of the United States to Axis warcraft.

Although the orders were issued on September 11, Secretary of Navy Knox subsequently revealed that they did not go into effect until 12:01 a. m. on September 16. At that zero hour, the Atlantic fleet extended its protection to all friendly shipping in the designated area, with explicit instructions "to capture or destroy by every means at their disposal Axis-controlled submarines or surface raiders encountered in these waters."

KEARNEY ATTACK IS DECLARED IN DEFENSE ZONE

Hyde Park, N. Y., Oct. 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asserted today that the torpedoing of the United States destroyer Kearny southwest of Iceland was clearly in the American defense zone.

The chief executive declined, however, to discuss the incident in detail, telling a press conference he would leave that to the Navy Department in Washington.

Three minutes after reaching his home here this morning, Secretary Knox advised him by phone of the attack on the Kearny. He appeared surprised that the press had learned of the torpedoing so soon.

But there was little evidence of alarm in his bearing over the fact that an American warship had been hit for the first time since the war in Europe began.

Mr. Roosevelt said, in response to questions, that he had no information about casualties or possible retaliation by the Kearny. To an inquiry whether the same instructions to hunt down the enemy (Turn to Page Thirteen)

DEMANDS QUICK RETALIATION IN SHIP INCIDENT

Washington, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Torpedoing of the United States destroyer Kearny off Iceland brought a prompt demand today from Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) that the navy retaliate "with two sinkings for each assault" and a comment by Representative Cox (D-Ga.) that if the Germans are guilty, "it is probably the incident for which we have been waiting."

Senator Nye (R-ND), critic of administration policies, said "When the navy operates under the shooting orders that the president has given, we ought not to be surprised when these things occur. I wouldn't let this mean war, so far as I am concerned."

PROMINENT FRANKLIN DENTIST IS KILLED

Franklin, Pa., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Dr. R. R. Jordan, 68, prominent Franklin dentist, was injured fatally last night when he was struck by an automobile on a downtown street.

Deputy Coroner P. E. Cunningham said Dr. Jordan stepped from behind a parked car into the path of the other machine.

Germany Has Only American Reports

Berlin, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Authorized Germans said tonight they had only American reports of the torpedoing of the U. S. destroyer Kearny and were unable to comment because there was no indication that a German vessel was involved.

They pointed out, besides, that German submarines are not in constant touch with their bases and usually return to their stations before making reports.

The Axis made no formal reply to Mr. Roosevelt's "defensive waters" proclamation, but semi-official reaction in both Berlin and Rome left no doubts the Axis would refuse to recognize the policy and that the American navy would be courting trouble if it sought to enforce it.

More concretely, the Germans openly claimed that in the week following the president's address their U-boats had sent 28 merchant ships to the bottom in "Icelandic waters." Since Mr. Roosevelt had ordered the Navy specifically to keep the sea lanes to the U. S. base in Iceland free of hostile warcraft, this Nazi claim was looked on at the time as a possible direct challenge to the new American policy.

The Kearny has but two smoke stacks and thus contrasted with the 50 World War type, four-stack vessels transferred last year to Great Britain. Navy officers said its silhouette thus was far different from these, although resembling some of Britain's new two stackers.

Officials estimated the Kearny carried a crew numbering between 125 and 150 officers and men.

There was no indication in the navy's first report on the Kearny incident as to just how the torpedoing occurred or what if any combat or protective steps preceded it.

The official American record in the Greer case, however, has finally been made clear. Only four days ago Chairman Walsh (D-Mass.) of the senate naval committee made public a statement by Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, detailing the story of the encounter between the Greer and a German submarine.

This account showed the Greer was 175 miles southwest of Iceland at about 8:40 a. m. on September 4 when a British plane notified her that a submarine was submerged 10 miles ahead directly on the course the destroyer was following.

The Greer steamed ahead rapidly, zigzagging and at 9:20 picked up the propeller beat of the submarine. It then began trailing it, broadcasting the submarine's position.

Stark commented that such action was in accordance with the Greer's orders which he described as being "to give out information, but not to attack."

At 10:22 the plane dropped four depth charges which went wide and 20 minutes later withdrew from the hunt.

The Greer, which was carrying mail to Iceland, stayed on the U-boats' trail. Then at 12:40 p. m. the submarine suddenly changed course and itself began to close on the Greer.

INDICT TWO IN DOUBLE MURDER AT GOLF CLUB

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Thomas C. Penney, 32, and Robert H. Anderson, 36, were indicted today on a murder charge in the robbery-killing of Golf Star Marion Milley and her mother at the Lexington Country Club Sept. 28.

The indictments were returned by the Fayette county grand jury less than five hours after the surprise arrest of a third man in the case, Raymond S. (Skeeter) Baxter, 27, greens tender at the club for the last two years.

HOUSE SET FOR NEUTRALITY ACT REVISION VOTE

Refuse to Send Merchant Ship Arming Legislation Back to Foreign Affairs Committee for Further Hearings

OPPONENTS CONCEDE

Washington, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Confronted with the torpedoing of the United States destroyer Kearny off Iceland, the house refused today to send the administration's merchant ship arming legislation back to the foreign affairs committee for further hearings and prepared to vote immediately on its final passage.

The recomittal motion was advanced by Republican members of the committee who have been sharply critical of the Democratic majority's action in limiting the hearings on the proposal to two days and in keeping the questioning of administration witnesses secret.

Washington, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Rep. Plumley (R-Vt.) told the house today the torpedoing of the destroyer Kearny demonstrated that the United States was confronted with a "world crime" which made the administration's proposal to arm merchant ships "a trivial item."

Plumley made the statement as the house moved toward the end of debate on the ship arming legislation.

He said the Nazis were "saturated with a crazy determination to crush our civilization" and threatened to "stop all human progress." A few minutes earlier, Rep. Cox (D-Ga.) declared adoption of the resolution to repeal the neutrality act's ban on arming of merchant ships would be "a state of war."

"With its adoption we become an army of 150,000,000 men and women," he said, "every one of us pledged to the destruction of Hitler, who has his iron heel on all of Europe."

Cox also said that with the adoption of the repealer "we come to a deadline for all criticism of the foreign policy of the administration."

Opponents of the repealer frankly conceded defeat and sought to expedite a final vote by refraining from sponsoring time-consuming amendments.

A recommendation that the United States "serve notice on Japan that if she moves north or south, we will destroy her navy," was made by Rep. Charles J. Fiedis (D-Pa.), who declared that German successes in Russia had given

Washington, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Authoritative quarters indicated today all American merchant ships had been ordered out of Japanese and Chinese waters because of what the navy called "the situation in the Pacific."

The navy, reported by Manila sources to have ordered the ships to proceed to the nearest American or British port, took this official position.

"In view of the present situation in the Pacific, the navy department has no comment to make."

Reliable informants, however, indicated strongly that the order had been issued.

The number of American ships in Japanese and Chinese waters was said to be "small," with a "considerable" number of American ships operating in the rest of the Pacific.

The Maritime Commission, like the navy, declined to discuss ship

DECISION EXPECTED SOON ON OIL PRICES

Bradford, Pa., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Ralph T. Zook, prominent Bradford oil operator, said the office of price administration at Washington indicated it would issue a decision soon on requests that it lift the $2.75-a-barrel ceiling placed on Pennsylvania grade crude oil prices.

Zook made the statement upon returning from the capital, where he and other district operators clarified certain sections of the brief on their contention that a former price boost of 25 cents a barrel should be reinstated. The brief was presented at the OPA hearing September 26.

LAST SURVIVING CIVIL WAR VET IN COUNTY DIES

Calvin Day, 100 Years Old, Passes Away at Russell After Short Illness; Funeral Services Saturday at 2 P. M.

CENTERVILLE NATIVE

Warren county lost its oldest resident and only centenarian last night, when Calvin Day, last local veteran of the Civil War, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. McKelvy at Russell, where he had made his home for the past three years. He had been ill only since Wednesday.

Funeral services for Mr. Day, who was nearly 101 years old, will be held at two o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Peterson Funeral Home, conducted by Dr. John H. Clemens, retired pastor of Grace Methodist church, Internment will be made at his birthplace, Centerville in Crawford county, with the ritual of the Grand Army of the Republic at the graveside. Friends may call at the funeral home at any time.

Born in Centerville on January 31, 1841, he enlisted in Company I, 150th Pennsylvania Infantry, known as the Bucktail Regiment, on June 1, 1862. A year later, he was transferred to Battery "B," Pennsylvania Light Artillery, and saw service in the Battle of Gettysburg, at Chancellorsville and at Fredericksburg, in the Battle of Wilderness, in the Peninsula campaign and before Richmond. He was honorably discharged after two years and 10 months of service. His only physical defect, impaired hearing, dated to the bursting of a Confederate shell in close proximity during the Battle of Gettysburg.

He has enjoyed of late years his ability to recall many interesting and amusing incidents from the days of his army service and liked to tell of the time he was under the command of Colonel Hildreth, reputed one of the outstanding military figures of the war between the states.

After the war, he followed the lumbering industry in forests of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota for more than 50 years.

One of his pleasures of the past few years had been rides about the county in an automobile, during which he noted and commented upon the many changes and their effect upon the countryside, and his annual participation in the Memorial Day parade and services in tribute to his departed comrades.

Only 100,000 Vote Babies Will Be Listed in Standings Next Week

Only babies having 100,000 votes or more, to their credit, will be carried in the list of active candidates in the Favorite Baby Election beginning next week; this does not mean that babies with less than this number of votes will be eliminated from the race, but that they will be put on the "waiting list" until such time as their vote totals reach the required 100,000 mark, when they will be reinstated.

It requires but a few merchants' pink Baby Vote coupons and a subscription of two for any baby to obtain 100,000 votes.

Make today and tomorrow really count, in a big way, and insure your baby's staying in the list of active candidates, is the advice of the election editor.

Contrary to the general practice in elections and "contests," the Warren Times-Mirror does not publish the votes of babies, believing it fairer to simply show the relative standing of the leading 30 babies week to week; of course

Titanic Battle For Russia Capital Rages Into 16th Day With Undiminished Fury; Declare German Onslaught Slowed As Defense Armies Mass For Last Ditch Stand

SOVIET GOVERNMENT MOVES HEADQUARTERS

BULLETIN
London, Oct. 17.—(AP)—The Moscow radio said in a broadcast heard here today that the German attack in the direction of Orel, 200 miles south of the Soviet capital, had slackened.

By the Associated Press
On the Russo-German war front, the titanic battle for Moscow raged into its 16th day with undiminished fury.

Soviet dispatches reported stubbornly fighting Red Army troops had broken two German spearheads thrust into the key sectors of Vyazma, 125 miles west of Moscow, and Kalinin, 95 miles northwest of the Russian capital.

While conceding the danger was still extreme, the Russians declared the German onslaught on the approaches of Moscow had been slowed as Soviet defense armies of Marshal Semeon Timoshenko massed in front of the capital for a last-ditch stand.

Berlin reports said Nazi troops slashing at Moscow's outer defenses—only 60 miles away at some points—had captured an important industrial section south of the U. S. R. capital and seized a power station which supplied the Moscow industrial region.

Authoritative quarters in London said the British military mission in Moscow was "on the move," and members of the Soviet government itself were reported moving to the interior city of Kazan, 450 miles east of Moscow. U. S. Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt and his embassy staff have already departed for the interior.

A mid-day Red Army bulletin reported no new gains for the Nazi invaders, noting merely the 16-day-old struggle before Moscow was particularly fierce, with vast destruction of men and machines on both sides.

PARDON BOARD REFUSES PLEAS OF TWO KILLERS

Harrisburg, Oct. 17.—(AP)—As two convicted slayers faced death in the electric chair Monday morning, Governor James today granted a respite to a third, Harold E. Ellis, 35, who had been scheduled to die with them.

The governor's office announced the executive, honey-mooning in Virginia, approved the respite for Ellis, who pleaded guilty to the hitch-hike slaying of Edward Lee, wealthy Sullivan county lumberman.

MARY LOU CHAMBERS
North Warren

In presenting this little girl we show you one of the favorites in the Baby Election—one who's making things hum in the voting line in her community. Mary Lou is four years old and we are sure you will agree that she is a remarkably fine looking girl. She has brown eyes and blond hair. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Chambers, 361 North State street, North Warren, are her grandparents. Mrs. Mary Lou and Mrs. Johanna Lucy are her great-grandparents. Mary Lou has a Persian kitten which she likes very much. She is greatly admired by her many friends and this fact will go a long way in helping her gather in enough votes for the title of "Queen of Babyland." She has the qualities needed to get Baby Votes and the interest in her election should grow keener from day to day.

BOY IS KILLED IN ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE SCHOOL

Two Others Wounded As Guards Frustrate Attempt of Four Youths to Break for Freedom from White Hill

STRENGTHEN BARRIER

BY HAROLD WARD
White Hills, Oct. 17.—(AP)—The death of one boy and wounding of two others in a frustrated break for freedom from Pennsylvania's newest model industrial school gave fresh impetus today to a move to strengthen the institution's 12-foot wire enclosure, which has been scaled eleven times in less than three months.

Four youths, ranging in age from 17 to 20, yesterday made a daring daylight rush over the barrier, under gunfire from two guard towers, with the result that:

Paul Selbridge, 19, of Butler, was dropped just outside the wire fence with a fatal wound in the chest. He signalled his companions to continue, and died a short time later in the school hospital.

George Clark, 20, Philadelphia, was shot in the hip and Clayton Ford, 20, Williamsport, was felled with a leg wound. The condition of both was described as "satisfactory."

Earl Ward, 17, Philadelphia, suffered badly lacerated hands from five strands of barbed wire atop the fence. He was captured.

Major Henry C. Hill, superintendent, said the dead youth, who once

PEACE INQUIRY BY PRESIDENT URGED BY NYE

Proposes Rider to Administration Lease-Lend Bill to Investigate Possibilities for Settlement

BRITISH GIVEN SUBS

Washington, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Senator Nye (R-ND) proposed today the senate attach a rider to the administration's $3,955,000,000 lend-lease bill, instructing President Roosevelt to inquire into the possibility of bringing about a negotiated peace abroad.

Nye, a member of the senate appropriations subcommittee considering the measure, told reporters he was convinced this government's failure to make any move to halt the conflict had become a "burning issue" in the country.

In his opinion the question has become increasingly important because he said, appropriations far beyond those sought in the pending bill would have to be made if the struggle continued long.

"I don't know what success the president would have if he tried to sound out the belligerents on peace terms," Nye said, "but I do know that a lot of people think we ought to be doing something towards ending the slaughter that is going on."

Nye's proposal came after Secretary of the Navy Knox had disclosed the transfer of two recommissioned submarines to the British under terms of the original $7,000,000,000 appropriation.

Knox who met with the president yesterday along with other high military and foreign advisors, told reporters that two recommissioned submarines, one built in 1919 and the other in 1923, had been assigned to the British to strengthen their coastal defense forces.

Both were rated as "over-age." When Knox was asked if further transfers were in the making, he replied in the negative.

In contrast to the transfer a year ago of 50 destroyers, news of the submarine deal was received calmly in congressional circles. Even opponents of the administration's foreign policy indicated they would raise no objections.

STATE'S YOUNG REPUBLICANS IN ANNUAL MEETING

Harrisburg, Oct. 17.—(AP)—National defense, the "off-year" election and work of five major state departments held the attention today of the Young Republicans of Pennsylvania in annual state convention.

Most of the topics are listed for consideration at an afternoon symposium but at least one—the fall election question—was brought to the fore in a pre-convention statement by the organization's chairman, Frank C. Hilton.

He warned voters, as well as party leaders, against "relaxing their interest and work" because no substantial change in presidential election is scheduled this fall, and declared:

"There is never an 'off-year' election. Actually, the important election campaigns are those of the type in which we are now participating—the local, or municipal elections. Of all times, we must work and work hard now."

Secretary of Commerce Mark S. Janney and Carl Anderson, of the department of property and supplies, have been invited to address the symposium on the national defense program, its effect on Pennsylvania and problems under the government's priorities system.

Others on the program include E. Arthur Sweeney, secretary of welfare; C. H. Buckius, of the department of highways, and G. Albert Stewart, secretary of forests and waters. Invitations to an evening meeting have been accepted by U. S. Senators James J. Davis (R-Pa.) and Ralph O. Brewster (R-Meme).

Supreme Court Justice William M. Parker and Charles E. Kenworthy of the superior court, were guests at a luncheon. Both men, appointed by Governor James to fill vacancies on the courts, seek full terms in the election this fall.

MILITARY CABINET FOR JAPS

Lieut. Gen. Eiki Tojo, War Minister in Konohe Government, Designated as Premier; Is Open Admirer of German Army Methods Since Serving as Attache in Berlin

NAVY HEAD SUMMONED, NAME OTHERS LATER

Tokyo, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Lieut. Gen. Eiki Tojo became premier-designate of Japan today, picked to take up the reins of government dropped by Prince Fumimaro Konohe yesterday before a growing crisis in the empire's relations with Soviet Russia and the United States.

A soldier and the son of a soldier, the 56-year-old general was war minister in the Konohe cabinet.

He has been an open admirer of German military methods since service in Berlin as an attache in 1919 and declared as long ago as 1937 that "Japan must be prepared to fight China and Russia simultaneously."

Emperor Hirohito entrusted General Tojo with the task of forming a new government upon the recommendation of Japan's elder statesmen to Marquis Koichi, Kido, Lord Keeper of the Privy Seal. They made their decision at a 3-4 hour conference.

Soon after Tojo was summoned, Admiral Koshiro Oikawa, minister of the navy under Konohe, was called to the palace for a conference.

Selection of other members of the cabinet to serve under Tojo was expected to be delayed until after the emperor attends ceremonies at the Yasukuni shrine Saturday in honor of the empire's war dead.

Generals and admirals probably will predominate in its make-up and may monopolize the portfolios, Japanese said.

Amid these developments—coming less than two months after Prince Konohe first sought through secret negotiations in Washington to ease strained relations between the United States and Japan—it was reported that the commander in chief of empire legions in China had ordered his southern Japan on his way to Tokyo for a conference. He is General Shunroku Hata, a former war minister.

Newspapers warned the people of the extreme gravity of the times and repeated charges that the

CLARION SLAYER IS GIVEN SECOND TERM

Clarion, Pa., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Frank Derolph, 43, already serving life for the "revenge" slaying of an uncle, was given another sentence of life imprisonment yesterday for killing his 12-year-old cousin, Ronald Wentling.

The uncle, Reuben L. Wentling, 55, and his son were slain at a farm near here last December 27. Derolph said he shot Wentling out of revenge, believing him responsible for the suicide of his (Derolph's) father in 1912.

Derolph insisted, however, that he shot Ronald accidentally.

Judge Harry M. Rimer said yesterday he found the evidence and circumstances the same in both cases, and, considering the mental condition of the defendant, he imposed the same sentence.

NO DECISION IN COAL PROBLEM AT WASHINGTON

Washington, Oct. 17.—(AP)—The national mediation board has reached no decision yet in negotiations on demands of the CIO United Mine Workers for a closed shop for 43,000 miners employed in "captive" pits operated by steel companies, a board source said last night.

The source declined to say whether the negotiations had arrived at a recommendation stage.

After a week's strike last month, the miners returned to work under a 30-day trial expiring Oct. 19 to give the board opportunity to attempt a settlement.

"The union automatically extends itself after October 19 until the union gives a three-day notice to plans to terminate it," a union spokesman said.

Senator Bridges (R-NH) called the torpedoing "an open act of defiance by Hitler."
"This presents a wholly different problem than attacks made upon our merchant ships and further complicates the problem we face," Bridges said. "When American naval vessels are attacked there should certainly be no hesitancy about the arming of our merchant ships."
Secretary of State Hull's comment was confined to the terse remark that what he has said on previous occasions about German U-boat activities applied. On these occasions he has described their attacks as piracy.
In Wichita Falls, Tex., Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex.), chairman of the foreign relations committee, said "we shall retaliate" for the torpedo attack on the Kearny.
"When our naval vessels are attacked by numerous and cowardly submarines, we shall retaliate by sinking every surface raider or submarine that invades our defensive waters or threatens any of our naval vessels."

The pardon board recommended a respite until November 24, and its recommendation was sent promptly to James at Hot Springs, Va.
The board denied clemency to Willie Jones, young Pittsburgh negro, and Herman Petrillo, Philadelphia salesman, convicted in one of a series of insurance-for-murder deaths, and preparations went forward for their execution shortly after midnight Sunday night.
The board recommended a respite for Harold E. Frisbie, hitch-hiker slayer of a Sullivan county lumberman, after an unscheduled appeal by Frisbie's wife. She asked the respite in order that her husband might be submitted to a "complete mental examination" recommended by psychiatrists.
Refusal of clemency pleas in the Jones and Petrillo cases came after two hours' deliberation of the board as it included its two-day October meeting. More than a hundred pleas for commutation and pardon were considered during the session.
Jones was convicted of killing Frank Atkinson, McKeesport meat packer, during a robbery more than a year ago and his final appeal was supported by the American League to Abolish Capital Punishment.
Petrillo's death sentence for the slaying of Rafael Caruso in 1934 was appealed on the ground he was convicted on the "uncorroborated testimony" of one witness—Salvatore Sorbino, who drew life imprisonment for his role in the Caruso death.

Minutes later two torpedoes were fired from the sub. Both missed and the Greer then counterattacked, dropping 11 highly explosive depth charges into the sea, but officers and crew observed no signs indicating a hit.
The German account of the Greer incident said the destroyer started the attack.

OFFICERS HERE CONTINUE PROBE INTO ROBBERIES

Officers of the local police department are continuing their investigation into the robbery of the high school here and are cooperating with Corry police, after it was learned that the high school and public library there had been robbed in a similar manner to the local school.
Because the tactics used in both robberies are identical, officials are certain that both jobs were pulled by an organized gang. State police and the sheriff's office here are also aiding in the investigation.
The Corry school was entered by a rear window, the same as was the case here, and in both instances doors and desks were pried open and papers strewn about. The Corry robbery, which occurred some time Monday night, netted the thieves only $23 from both the school and public library.
Authorities have also been checking the possibility that the same gang of vandals may be responsible for the robbery of two Youngville garages on Sunday night.

MORE IMPORTANT THAN FOOTBALL

The University of Georgia lost, 41-0. Not on the football field, but on a field whose game is a great deal more important, the field of education itself.

The Southern University Conference, comprising 41 of the foremost colleges of the whole South, has voted unanimously to drop the University of Georgia from its rolls.

You might argue that the vote was 40-1, but no. 1500 University of Georgia students gathered on the campus and burned Governor Eugene Talmadge in effigy, thus suggesting strongly that even the university which is to be dropped was trying to register its vote with the majority, and make it unanimous. Thus Georgia lost, 41-0.

Governor Eugene Talmadge some time ago attempted to dismiss Dr. Walter D. Cocking, dean of the School of Education at Georgia. He didn't like some of Dr. Cocking's proposals for improving Negro education in the state. The Board of Regents of the university didn't follow Talmadge, and refused to discharge Cocking. So Governor Talmadge simply reshuffled his board, putting in as new members who would do his bidding. They fired Cocking, as the conference now finds. "Without due and reasonable notice and upon charges which are not substantiated."

There is now a possibility that because of Governor Talmadge's political interference with the state university, it may lose its accredited standing before the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, whose membership largely overlaps that of the conference.

Higher education must have a great deal of freedom to be worth its salt. Too much interference from politicians in the case of state universities, or from big contributors in the case of privately-supported institutions, is almost sure to nullify the whole purpose of the college, which is concerned with the search for knowledge and truth. To pursue that search competent men must be placed in charge, trusted, and allowed to go a largely independent way.

Either the state-supported or the privately-supported college is subject to pressure, one political, the other financial. The Georgia incident, following so soon after the debauching of Louisiana State University under the clownish interference of Kingfish Huey Long, is ample evidence that the United States has done well to support both kinds of colleges. The privately-supported institutions can usually resist political pressures; the state-supported are not subjected to the pressures which arise from constant need of endowments.

Both pressures must be fought in the interest of the independent search for truth which is the colleges' main function. The fact that Southern Colleges have unanimously condemned Talmadge's effort to dominate politically the great university of his state is proof that higher education is not going to be surrendered to politics without a fight.

IS THE DOOR LOCKED?

Reports of strange airplanes and sea craft off Baffin Island at the mouth of Hudson Bay have come down from the north.

This "back door to North America" was set down as a grave danger more than a year ago by H. Dyson Carter in his book, "Sea of Destiny." He suggested that raiders could enter the narrow strait of the bay, block the entrance behind them, and come by sea and air far down into James Bay and the interior of North America, in a position to make disastrous raids, before being discovered.

The present warnings, together with the recent dismantling of a German radio station on Greenland, only 200 miles east of the strait's entrance, suggest that if the Canadian and American navies have not double-locked the northern "back door" of Hudson Bay, they had better be getting about it.

The federal 5 percent tax on travel won't bother some people. They just aren't going any place.

Strange, but blind faith often leads you safely through the dark places.

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

For every one that doth evil, hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, lest his deeds should be reproved.—John 3:20.

But he that hateth the darkness of my course, direct my sail.—Shakespeare.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I dropped by the Winter Garden where Olsen and Johnson were building their new successor to "Hellzapoppin," an elaborate piece of nonsense to be called "Sons O' Fun."

They were making up the script as they went along, and a handsome blonde girl sat in the wings and took down the wisecracks in shorthand as they were tossed off. Olsen and Johnson never write a line until they act out their hokum. "Hokum," incidentally, is taboo with Ole and Chick. They prefer "gonk." "Gonk" is hokum with raisins in it," they explain.

JOHNSON, the porky member of the firm, was plunging about the stage in a jumper that resembled a convict's shirt that had been dyed in pokeberry juice. He had just driven in from his farm at Carmel, N.Y. He commutes there daily. "They call me farmer Johnson," he grinned. "I don't think they know I'm an actor." Johnson calls his 350 acres "Winter Garden Farm" and on it are about 100 head of blooded cattle. "I'm looking for 300 extra acres, and next year I'll have 300 cows." This dealer in "gonk" is also a dealer in clabber, sweet milk, and cream.

Olsen, on the other hand, is the hand-shaker of the two. He is slightly more nattily attired. On the side he owns a restaurant and bar that is known as the 4-40 Club—a name derived from his location at No. 4 Fortieth street. He's the party-goner and the great-er. His club is a hand-shaker's paradise where Ole passes out autographs and greets his admirers en masse.

As I watched the zany shenanigans unfold on the stage Johnson suddenly came down and slipped into the next seat. "There are thieves lurking behind every door," he began darkly.

"If you sell all our gags in your column, half a dozen shows will open with our stuff before we get to Broadway. How about making it sort of vague," he asked. "In this town, even a man's soul ain't his own unless it's copy-righted."

JOHNSON and Olsen still recall with a shudder the narrow escape they had when "Hellzapoppin'" opened as a hit. Naturally, they had no script. So frightened were they that their stuff would be pilfered they had to call in a secretary, sit her in the wings, and have her take down the show in shorthand. Next day it was typed and copyrighted. This year Ole and Chick aren't taking any chances. Hence the blonde. If "Sons O' Fun" turns out to be another bonanza, their claim will be well staked in advance.

But if revealing the gags is taboo, I don't suppose there is any harm in mentioning that Carmen Miranda will share billing with Ole and Chick. The trio will be supported by a wide variety of close snake charmers, glass eaters, crooners and dancers. It will be topical, current and vocally crazy. "You know us," boomed Johnson. "Belly laughs or nothing. Chuckles and polite hand-clapping won't do."

STAMP NEWS

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT announces the new 50-cent orange airmail stamp will be placed on first-day sale Oct. 21 at St. Louis, Mo.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From the Warren Evening Times

In 1921
Notwithstanding the somewhat discouraging result of this year's county fair, the board of directors as well as the stockholders of the Warren County Agricultural Association have decided to hold another fair next year, after which the fate of the association will be determined. This year's fair entailed a loss of $1,000.

These from Warren who will attend the Poor Supervisors and Directors meeting to be held at Wilkes-Barre this week are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ward, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. Mac Olney, Mr. and Mrs. Addison White, Mr. and Mrs. M. Brady, Peter Nelson and Dr. H. W. Mitchell.

The foundry of the Struthers-Wells company will be started in the near future with a crew of about 20 men. It has been shut down since last December and the fact that there is sufficient work to warrant its resuming operations is encouraging news from an industrial standpoint.

One of Warren's versatile professional men has prepared an article which he intends to have published in a magazine next week. The article is on the city building for the execution of cars.

Dr. Williamson has returned from Erie, making the trip home via automobile. The Warren physician is highly elated over the condition of the roads between here and the Lake City.

In 1931
The $122,000 blimp, Miss Enna Jettick of the New England Airship Corporation, paid a "flying visit" to Warren today, enroute from Jamestown to Corry and Erie, the dirigible arriving over Warren shortly after two o'clock. It cruised over Warren and disappeared over the hills toward Starbuck.

Road improvements under the Pinchot rural road program are progressing in a splendid manner in this section of the state. The Bear Lake stretch is practically completed, while other nearby projects are being advanced as rapidly as weather will permit.

Racing fifty yards after catching a pass, Minelli of the Juliano Market football team, scored the only touchdown of yesterday's game at the West Side field to win 6-0, from the Commonwealth Cleaners. Wooster heaved the pass which helped Juliano take their third successive victory.

The Warren County Ministerial Association will hold a farewell luncheon tomorrow for the following ministers who are leaving this season: Rev. Harold P. Stoddard, Warren; Rev. C. W. Shields, Clarion; Rev. E. B. Moore, Tionesta, and Adjutant Ernest Toplis of the Salvation Army.

The first annual fall dance of the Delta Nu Phi sorority will be held at the Outing Club Friday with the Club Revelers furnishing the inspiration.

Gasoline enough for five automobile trips around the world can be carried by one type of large bomber being manufactured for U. S. defense.

A coiled rattlesnake is able to strike two-thirds of its length.

WAR AT SEA

Ships, war vessels and merchantmen have always had a part in the world's wars, as the conflicts spread from land onto the waters. Can you navigate a correct course to the answers to these questions about ships and war.

1. What was the first U. S. owned ship sunk near Iceland after President Roosevelt's "piracy" speech, and what two sinkings of American-owned vessels in the north Atlantic preceded it?
2. In what war did the Monitor and the Merrimac fight, and where?
3. What warship sinking in 1898 presaged a slogan and a war?
4. Name the four new 35,000-ton battleships launched by the U. S. in the past two years.
5. Where were the Lusitania and Athenia and the Robin Moor bound when sunk?

Torch Slayer

Robert Larry Gordon, 20, above, has confessed killing his benefactor, George W. Eastman, at Kalamazoo, Mich., by spraying Eastman's bed clothes with gasoline and setting them afire. Eastman, employed by the same Chicago firm for which Gordon worked, named the youth as his beneficiary just 12 hours before the slaying.

According to current estimates, one pound of plastic will replace more than three pounds of metal.

The greatest recorded depth of any ocean is in the Pacific—35,000 feet.

Second Report Presented in Y. W. Emancipation Campaign; Meeting Tonight Is Advanced to 7 O'clock

Tonight's report meeting in the Y. W. C. A. Emancipation Campaign, which was previously planned for 8:30 o'clock, has been changed to 7:00 o'clock this evening because of the entertainment to be held in the high school and which a number of the workers plan to attend.

TROOP BUDGET PLAN USED BY COUNTY SCOUTS

Commissioners of the local Boy Scout Council this month are reviewing the Troop Budget Plan in operation throughout the council. The budget plan is known as the Troop Budget Plan. The troop budget plan provides the funds for incidental troop expenses over and above those provided by the local Boy Scout council and every troop this year has been encouraged to begin operation of the budget plan.

The troop budget plan is the application of simple business methods of troop finances. The soundness of this procedure is a practical method for financing the troop and its training has been proved most conclusively by thousands of Scout troops throughout the country who have adopted and are now using the plan.

The ninth part of the Scout law, "A Scout is Thrifty," states: "He does not wantonly destroy property. He works faithfully, wastes nothing and makes the best use of his opportunity. He saves his money so that he may pay his own way, be generous to those in need and helpful to worthy objects. He may work for pay but may not receive tips for courtesies and good turns."

Scout officials believe that a boy who has learned to be thrifty has taken an important step in his preparation for citizenship for he has learned the important character trait of earning, spending wisely and sharing with others. The troop budget plan is intended to help develop these traits.

Steps in inaugurating the budget plan are first, discussion by the boy leaders of the troop of items which might conceivably go into a troop budget; second, a discussion with all members of the troop of the budget items and amount for each item; third, the approval of the budget; fourth, a planned income with Scouts paying their own way through earning projects; fifth, adequate record keeping; sixth, periodic reports to the troop of the status of the troop treasury.

The troop budget plan should not be confused with the annual budget of the Boy Scout Council which provides for advancement, awards, operation and maintenance of the camps, training expenses for leaders in Cubbing, Scouting and Senior Scouting, printing and records, rallies, special inter-troop activities, organization and extension of the program and the services of the Scout executive. The troop budget plan provides, as a rule, for the re-registration fee, items of uniform equipment, special troop supplies, a fund for "good turns" to other organizations and a reserve fund.

Educators and Scout officials alike throughout the United States believe that the only way for a boy to learn thrift is by actually practicing it in his youth and the troop budget plan is intended to give them that opportunity. Commissioners who will take part in the review this month are: C. W. Rogers, Elton Davis, C. R. Barker, P. D. Bean, A. A. Keller, H. H. Gustin, W. C. Dalton, M. C. Armstrong, E. B. Eaton, Carl Jones and R. L. Endress.

Clarendon

Clarendon, Oct. 14—The Philanthropic Bible class of the Methodist church held their October meeting in the church parlors on Monday evening with Mrs. Anna Dorsey in charge of devotions. A business meeting was then held with the vice president, Mrs. Helen Bimber in charge, the meeting was then given over to the program committee. Mrs. Jennie Boyles and Mrs. Mary Bimber, their program was much enjoyed, a dainty lunch was then served by the hostesses, Mrs. Martha Sleeman and Mrs. William Wyckoff. The next meeting will be held on November 3rd with Mrs. Mary Campbell and Mrs. Clara Nelson in charge of the program and Mrs. Anna Reed as hostesses.

SMART SLIP IN TWO LENGTHS
Pattern 4908

By ANNE ADAMS
The new narrow silhouette demands a perfect-fitting slip. Anne Adams designs an easy-to-make Pattern, 4908 in both day and evening length. The dart-fitted bodice, gives you a charming bosom line, whether you cut it on bias or straight. On the straight of the goods it may be cut in one with the shoulder straps. Why not edge it with lace and add the two little ribbon bows? Subtly cut to flatter your figure the back of the slip is made on princess lines and a center seam in the front. You'll be delighted with the Sewing Instructor's help in finishing it quickly. For dainty grooming under your formal and informal clothes, why not make both of these slips?

Pattern 4908 is available in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16, short length slip, takes 2 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric and 1 1/2 yards lace edging.

Allen Class of First Methodist Church Has Tenth Anniversary Celebration; 75 Present

More than 75 members and friends of the Allen Class of the First Methodist church met in Founders hall Thursday evening to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the founding of the organization. Following a luncheon dinner served at tables attractively decorated with bowls of autumn flowers, tapers and a large birthday cake, the evening's entertainment was opened with two groups of songs, by Miss Bessie Strickland, accompanied by Miss Lillian Larsen, and Miss Viola Lindmark accompanied by Miss Evelyn Wolstencroft. Both soloists have appeared on several previous occasions before the Allen Class, and have been rather closely identified with its history.

Devotions were presented by Mrs. Charles Eaton, after which the president, Mrs. C. C. Winans, conducted a brief business session. Mrs. E. L. Blodgett, chairman, presented the main feature of the evening's entertainment, an information, please program during which Mrs. N. Plus Wendelboe, as master of ceremonies, elicited from the class still resident in Warren, Mrs. Harold Stohl, Mrs. E. C. Christensen, Mrs. E. S. Briggs, and Mrs. C. C. Winans, much information of interest and credit to the organization concerning its growth in numbers, social activities, ever-increasing welfare work and part in the life of the church. One of the most remarkable features in the history of the class has been its rigid growth in one decade from an original enrollment of about a dozen members to a present roster of more than 90.

Letters and telegrams of congratulation and congratulatory were read from Mrs. Clarence Allen, wife of a former pastor and founder of the class; from three other past presidents now located elsewhere, Mrs. Louise Ellis, Mrs. Ronald Davison, Mrs. Frances O'Neill and from Mrs. William Ransom, a former very active member. Flowers in honor of the occasion were received from Mrs. M. A. Gould, of Toronto, O., whose daughter had been an honorary member of the class in its early years.

The very successful evening closed with the formation of a friendship circle in which members joined in singing the familiar "Blest Be the Tie That Binds". Much credit for the management of the dinner is due the committee in charge, consisting of Mrs. Gerould Ostergard, Mrs. Myron Grosch, Mrs. C. A. Babcock, Mrs. G. W. McFarland, Mrs. W. C. Par, Mrs. Karl Nichols, Mrs. F. G. Hanes, Mrs. Earle Flohr, Mrs. Glenn Elliott, Mrs. F. A. Wood and Miss Claire Elliott.

Community Council Reports More Than 500 Tickets to Plays

Mrs. Fred Schuler, chairman of the Clare Tree Major play committee, reported at yesterday's meeting of the Community Council P. T. A. that a total of 509 season tickets have already been sold this year. The high school seating capacity is 550.

Council activities held at the Y. W. C. A. activities building, with the vice president, Mrs. S. H. Saylor, in charge. Mrs. Harold Stohl presented Miss Dorothy Bosin in two piano selections and Miss Bonny Johnson in two vocal solos. Her accompaniments were played by Miss Shirley Allen.

Mrs. Schuler also reported that according to word received from Mrs. Major, a ten-cent tax must be levied on ticket holders this season, effective on all tickets sold after October 1.

The council voted to contribute $15 to the current Y. W. C. A. emancipation campaign.

Mrs. Louis Hendrickson, program chairman, presented the following in reports of the district convention held here on October 3: Mrs. Virgil King, Mrs. William Yeager, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Harold Nelson.

To conclude the afternoon, tea was served by the Lacy unit.

Choir Directors Here Have Set Festival Date for November 30

Choir directors of the community met in the First Baptist church last evening, with a good attendance, to make plans for continuation of the very successful annual choir conference.

It was voted to change the name of the event to Warren Choir Festival and the date was set for Sunday, November 30. The group has secured the services of Professor Morton J. Luvaas, director of music at Allegheny College, as guest conductor.

He will also conduct the preliminary rehearsals, the first to be held on Monday evening, November 3.

The annual election of officers was held and resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Emil Jacobson; secretary-treasurer, Miss Viola Landmark, pastoral advisor, Rev. P. P. Wroth. Heads of committees to complete plans for the festival will be announced later.

IRVINE WORKERS TREBLE SCOUT FUND PLEDGES

Irvine, Ludlow, Tidoute and Sugar Grove carried off honors in the first general report of teams conducting the Girl Scouts financial campaign outside Warren borough, workers reporting on Thursday at the home of the commissioner, Mrs. T. L. Armstrong, Fourth avenue.

Irvine trebled its 1940 contribution, while Tidoute exceeded the 1940 figure by $8. Other teams to top their performance of last season were Pittsfield and Spring Creek.

The goal of the drive is $1,200 to furnish one-quarter of the annual budget of the Warren County Girl Scout Council. Three-quarters of the support is derived from the Warren Community Chest.

The standing of the teams is figured on the relation of the amount of pledges to the number of Girl Scouts in the town. With a total of $781.05 in cash and pledges, the individual teams reported as follows:

Clarendon, Mrs. M. E. Larsen, captain, 16 Girl Scouts, $330.00, not complete; Irvine, Mrs. S. J. Titto, captain, 12 Girl Scouts, $104.60; Kinzua, unreported; Ludlow, Mrs. Walter Cox, captain, 29 Girl Scouts, $173.20; Pittsfield, Mrs. Ford Oso, captain, 22 Girl Scouts, $15, incomplete; Russell, Mrs. H. T. Moell, captain, 15 Girl Scouts, $28.90, incomplete; Spring Creek, Mrs. Chandler Mason, captain, 10 Girl Scouts, $20.10; Sugar Grove, Mrs. Guy Summerson, captain, 28 Girl Scouts, $72.65, Sheffield, Mrs. William Gallagher, captain, 46 Girl Scouts, $61.50, incomplete; Tidoute, Mrs. Frank White, captain, 40 Girl Scouts, $168.10; Youngsville, Mrs. P. R. Getts, captain, 52 Girl Scouts, $116.00, incomplete.

The drive will close next week, when reports will be received from the five teams whose work is uncompleted.

WE'RE SORRY

In the write-up following the picture of Frederick William Danielson, which appeared in Thursday's Warren Times-Mirror, some of Freddy's most ardent supporters and backers were not mentioned. Among these were his grandparents and great-grandparents which were inadvertently overlooked. We humbly apologize to Mrs. Jennie Danielson, Warren; Mr. M. H. Hendrickson, of Pittsburgh; and Mrs. I. F. Miller, of Brookville, grandparents; and to Mrs. Carrie Horner, Youngsville, and Mrs. L. W. Hendrickson, of Youngsville, great-grandparents. All of these relatives are active supporters of Freddy's candidacy in the Times-Mirror Favorite Baby Election.

There are two ways of obtaining Baby Votes—first by trading in the stores of the progressive merchants cooperating with The Times-Mirror in awarding $2,000 to the babies, and by subscribing to this newspaper—if you are a regular subscriber pay six months or a year in advance and if you are a new subscriber—so much the better!

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Today's hand is from another recent book, "Standardized Contract Bridge Complete," by Dr. Courtney Courtenay, is the author of several books on contract. His hand valuation methods are avowedly close to the Culbertson methods, but he has his own preferences in some of the bidding tactics.

Today's hand shows one striking difference. (Courtney gives only the East-West hands; I have supplied the North-South.) The problem is, how are East and West to bid after South opens with one diamond?

Culbertson has always been dubious about the safety of a jump overall as the first defensive bid. The West hand in his methods calls for a bid of one spade. But Mr. Courtney bids two spades. He remarks, "With two suited hands, experience has shown that it is not advisable to make a takeout double, as the bidder may get out of hand before the two suits have been shown."

East bravely bid three clubs, so that West gets a chance to show his second suit. It seems likely, though, that however the 26 North-South cards are distributed, the auction will not die at two spades. Furthermore, North-South will probably bid five diamonds over four hearts.

Is it Love? by MARGARETTA BRUCKER

Chapter Two Bad News

RIV tossed the list back in her lap and said abruptly: "There's no need to bother about that now."

"Of course we don't have to do it today. I only thought—"

His black eyes were dull and heavy. "Not today, nor for quite a while."

"But Riv—" She was angry.

"We can't be married in December," he said bluntly. "I can't tell you why right now. It may look queer—it is queer. There's nothing I can do about it. God knows I hate this like the devil. I've tried all the way from Washington to think of some way to break it to you easily, and now I've made you angry. You don't hate me, do you, honey?"

He sat down beside her and drew her into his arms and held her close. He kissed her over and over again, until she was frightened and breathless and unable to speak.

"We'll be married in June," he laughed a harsh, unnatural laugh. "After all, June's the month for brides. That will be just six months, and in that time everything will be fixed up."

"Riv—" She pushed him away. "What will be fixed up? Is it something about the draft? If so, why can't we be married quietly right now? I don't care about a wedding. I can go back with you and we'll get a little apartment and be happy. Really, Riv."

"You don't understand," he consulted his watch and arose. "I have to see a man about some property he wants in this county. He's a prospect the Colonel made in Washington. Man named Harris. Johnny Harris."

"Harris?"

"Know him?"

"Of course not, but Harris is the name of the man Aunt Car met overseas. The one Grandfather Fairhope refused to let her marry."

Riv showed no interest. He passed a long lean hand nervously over his forehead to smooth back his sleek black hair. He stared gloomily at his narrow feet. He lighted another cigarette and stubbed it out when only half finished. Then when the silence between them became awkward, he turned and attempted a smile. "Just a matter of a few months, honey. I'll get down often after this conscription affair is settled."

"Then you don't want to be married now?"

He avoided her serious glance. "I can't be married now," he said impatiently. "I can't tell you why it isn't necessary. We'll be married in June. I'll see you about seven. Ginny Fairchild asked me to bring you by for a drink before we go out to the dinner dance at the Country Club."

Then, as Sue Ellen hesitated, he said angrily: "You'll have to go. There'll be enough gossip as it is about the postponement of our wedding. If we're seen together tonight—what can they say?"

"Nothing," said Sue Ellen, "nothing to us, Riv, but I know what they'll say and you know what they'll say."

"You mean—"

"They'll say Deedora Waller made you change the date of our wedding."

Fear

SUE ELLEN knew her accusation that Deedora Waller was responsible for her postponed marriage would enrage Riv, and it did. He sprang up, his lean face white, his mouth a hard straight line.

"What do you mean?" he demanded hotly.

"Just what I said, Riv. Before Deedora came from up north to live in Tyler Springs, we had no misunderstandings. Quarrels, yes, for you have a high temper and so have I, but I didn't have any friends hinting that your father would like nothing better than to have you marry Deedora instead of me. I didn't feel free to have engagements with other men, even in your absence, but you did not hesitate to be seen constantly with Deedora."

Riv turned his back on her and strode across the room. He paused at the mantel and stood staring blankly at the portrait of Aunt Carolina which hung above it. He never turned, even when he spoke.

"You know why I had to take Deedora around. The Colonel told Jim Waller the old Fairchild plan- tation at a time when the sale meant a lot to him and to me. To you, too—if you weren't so insanely jealous, you would see that. Our future depended upon that sale, and when it pleased old Jim to have me escort his daughter, I had to do it."

"You might have explained to me why you did it."

"It isn't necessary to make explanations to anyone who loves you," said Riv stubbornly.

Unwillingly her heart softened toward him. He faced her now and his handsome face was miserably unhappy, his dark eyes pleading. He caught the gentleness in her face and rapidly crossed the room to sit down beside her, his nervous hands caught and held her small cold ones. "Are we going to let a misunderstanding wreck our love affair?" he asked winningly. "Look up, honey. There—"

He had her in his arms. Arms tightening about her as though he would never let her go. Her own hurt and bewilderment made her cling to him, even to respond as she had never responded to his caresses.

When Riv released her, she was weak and shaken. The hurt remained, buried deep in her heart. Later, when Riv was gone, it would not be easy to drive away the thought that Riv, in spite of his protests of affection, gave no real reason for the postponement of their wedding.

"Love me?" asked Riv against her soft dark hair.

"If I didn't love you, you couldn't hurt me, could you?"

"Listen, in June we'll have the finest wedding ever given in Tyler Springs. I'll get the Colonel to fix things up so that I can give you Belle Acres for my wedding gift. That make you happy?"

She nodded. The possession of Belle Acres was her dearest wish, she thought. But after Riv had left her sitting alone in the dusk, the question she had asked Aunt Car returned to frighten her. Did she love Riv?

She would see Riv at seven and in the midst of her own crowd would be forced to announce that her wedding would not be in December. It had been postponed. Riv would have to laugh and claim that to be her plan. Many things could happen in six months. What would happen to her?

She felt tired and drained of all feeling, as she stooped and picked up the list which held the names of those whom she expected at her wedding, and crushed it, tossed it in the waste basket by the desk.

Caller

NOW she arose and crossed to the window. Far away in the distance she heard the cotton mill whistle. The work day at Tyler Springs was over. She almost wished that she were like those men and women who had a work day and knew nothing of a life of idleness, a type of pride which demanded that a girl make marriage her one career, her one and only hope for a future.

There were girls in Tyler Springs who had a different plan of life. Girls who had gone away. Aunt Carolina and Aunt Pleasant Fairhope, who had raised her from babyhood, spoke scornfully of labor and had instilled the idea that a lady looked to only one career—her marriage. She had been trained for marriage with Riv. Sacrifices had been made and property mortgaged to give her that training.

She had gone too far to retreat. She must overlook things she could not understand and accept Riv for what he was. Spoiled—handsome and yet with a charm which made everyone overlook his weaknesses. She knew all this. Had known it all her life, and until today had closed her eyes to his faults and believed wholly and fully that life with Riv would follow the pattern she set for it.

Now—would it?

Something was wrong today and she could not understand or analyze it. She felt restless, dissatisfied, as she stood in the high-ceilinged old room with the last rays of the setting sun striking the liquid surface of the old French mirrors. Surrounded by the grandeur of the past, everything in Magnolia House bespoke of the past. The faded carpets and hangings, the gloomy old oil portraits, the heavy mahogany furniture and bric-a-brac.

Riv hated the past and spent enough time in Washington with his father to divorce himself from Tyler Springs and its ways.

That was what she must do, if she hoped to keep him and assure her wedding to Riv in June. Pride demanded that nothing interfere with that wedding. Not even her own doubts—not even this restless feeling that there was a love unlike the affection she felt for Riv.

Absorbed in her thoughts, she did not hear the bell nor Uncle Freeman's shuffling step as he moved to answer it. She stood lost in troubled thought until Uncle Freeman said apologetically from the doorway: "Heah's a gennum, Miss Sue Ellen. He say..."

She turned quickly and saw a man in uniform standing in the hall doorway. He was as tall as Riv. In the second before he spoke she thought of this and then recognized him as the man who had spoken to her in the drug store. The man whose glance had awakened a feeling that she could not understand then and understood less now.

He said: "I'm Johnny Harris."

He was a northerner and she despised all northerners.

Deedora Waller was a northerner and her mind was troubled by thoughts of Deedora and the part she had played in upsetting her plans. Some of all this crept into her voice as she said coldly: "I think you have made a mistake."

OBITUARY

JAMES SELDEN DUNLAP

Word has been received here that James Selden Dunlap died October 6 at his home at Pearl on the Pittsburgh road below Franklin, and that funeral services were held October 8 at the Hickory Grove church. His wife, Lena Hull Dunlap, to whom he was married in 1906, was formerly of Tidoute and has many friends and relatives throughout this section.

She survives, with the following children: Fremont, of Phillipsburg, N. J.; Silas, of Nickleville; Winfield, at home; Mrs. Sarah E. Brandon, Prospect Park, Franklinton; Ella M. Hogue and Mrs. Dorothy, Elks, of Pearl; and Violet P. Dunlap, of California; also 11 grandchildren, one brother and two sisters.

Former schoolmates acted as bearers, as the final wish of the deceased, and interment was made in Hickory Grove church.

MRS. ANNIE HANSEN

Funeral services in memory of Mrs. Annie Hansen, 104 Russell street, were held at two o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Peterson Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. Edward K. Rogers, pastor of the First Lutheran church. Interment was made in Oakland cemetery, with the following acting as bearers: Chris Larsen, Peter Jansen, Karl Petersen, Jens Petersen, P. C. Jensen and Arnold Fitzgerald.

Those who came from out of town were Mrs. Clara Karr, Omaha, Neb.; Mrs. Lillian Sundberg Kearney, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Peter F. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. John Just, Charles Jensen, Jens Jensen, and Chris Pedersen, all of Jamestown, N. Y.; Mrs. Frank Barney, Knapp's Creek.

CHARLES JOHNSON

A host of friends throughout the community were shocked to learn of the sudden passing of Charles Johnson, Warren, E. 2, which occurred at the Warren General Hospital Wednesday morning at 11:15 o'clock, following a short illness.

The deceased was an employee of the National Forge and Ordnance company at Irvine since May, 1935, and took pleasure in his work and enjoyed his fellow workers.

He was born in Bens, Sweden June 15, 1886, and came to this country when about 16 years of age. He had resided here since 1935.

Besides many friends, he leaves to mourn his passing three daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Trumbull, Kane, Mrs. Edith Swann and Esther Johnson of Maywood, Calif.; four sons, Ruben, Irving and Paul, of Erie, and Walter who is in the service of the U. S. Army and now stationed in the Philippine Islands. Six grandchildren also survive: William (Billy) Trumbull, Kane, Chas. Wallace, Doris Mac Marshall and Richard Johnson, all of Erie. One sister who resides in Gilesburg, Ill. is also among the survivors. His wife preceded him in death 19 years ago.

Funeral services will be held at Kane although arrangements have not been completed, pending arrival of relatives from away. Services will be held from his former home in Kane, 218 Ash street.

CARD OF THANKS

To all our friends for the sympathy and helpful kindness so generously extended to us during the trying time of bereavement, we are deeply grateful.

Dr. G. A. Smith and Family.

WARREN DOCTOR ACCORDED HIGH SURGICAL HONOR

A distinct honor has been bestowed upon one of the borough's leading physicians, it was learned here today, with the election of Dr. William M. Cashman as a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

The fact that this honor is usually given to doctors who practice surgery alone and seldom is bestowed on general practitioners, is even more significant and gratifying to friends of the local doctor.

Dr. Cashman takes his place in the society along with Dr. E. G. Hamilton, who is also a member of the honor fellowship. These are the only two local doctors to be so honored. The late Dr. William Robertson shared the distinct honor a few years ago.

Dr. Cashman established his office for the practice of medicine in Warren in October 1930 and has been active in the Warren County Medical Society, having been president of the organization in 1935.

He is receiving many congratulations today from friends in the community as well as members of the Warren County Medical Society.

Is it Love?

by MARGARETTA BRUCKER

(From Page Seven)

YESTERDAY: Sue Ellen Fairhope has just been told by her tall, dark and badly spoiled fiancé that their wedding must be put off until June—six long months. Sue Ellen is disturbed, because Riv Moore has given no good reason. And before she can make up her mind what to do, the negro butler has announced another caller. He is Johnny Harris, a soldier from nearby Camp Shelby, and he is also a northerner. Sue Ellen is not too fond of northerners.

Chapter Three Up From The Past

JOHNNY HARRIS was broad-shouldered, muscular, and his grey eyes were startlingly vivid in his lean tanned face. "He smiled and held out his hand. 'My father knew your aunt Carolina Fairhope. You are Miss Fairhope?'"

"I'm Sue Ellen Fairhope." She was so astounded that this man should be the son of Aunt Car's old sweetheart that she stood staring at him and even let him take her hand.

"I'll call Aunt Car," she said briefly. "She will want to see you."

For the first time in her life she felt awkward and at a loss for words. She withdrew her fingers

Sue Ellen wondered if she would meet Johnny again.

France—long before the War between the States.

She dropped down on the bed and wondered idly if she would meet Johnny Harris again. For some reason unknown to herself, she hoped not.

The Wallers

COLONEL MOORE, Riv's father, had been more fortunate than families in Tyler Springs like the Fairhopes. The Colonel managed to enter politics and work his way into the favor of those with influence in Washington. He carried on a real estate business in the country and the adjoining country and sold plantations at fat commissions to northerners.

The Colonel had made too much money from his Yankee clients to affront them. His most influential one was a man from Michigan, Jim Waller, who made money in automobile parts and now had promoted a gigantic program of airplane manufacture for defense. The Colonel had entertained the Wallers, sold them a huge estate and insisted, according to Riv's story, that Riv escort them about during the period when they were inspecting the property.

Jim Waller's daughter, Deedora, stayed in Tyler Springs to help with the restoration of the old Fairchild plantation. She was homely but smart. A brilliant conversationalist. She had traveled all over the world and had had a splendid education.

Various friends told Sue Ellen she was a fool to trust Riv and she had antagonized many by her positive statement that she would allow no one to annoy her with gossip about Riv, now that they were definitely engaged.

Riv had been sweet and thoughtful during the month following the announcement. Then in June he went to Washington and rumors drifted back that an early acquaintance with Deedora had developed into something quite different.

Sue Ellen heard some of this. She refused to accept it. She discussed the rumors with Riv quite frankly and Riv told her that he had been with Deedora to please the Colonel, who had some deal with Waller which would keep him out of the draft.

"But you can't escape the draft, Riv," she insisted. "It's a government regulation."

"A damned silly one, and don't think I intend to do squads right and left. The Colonel will fix it."

Now, as she dressed for dinner, she wondered if the postponement of her wedding played a part in the Colonel's fixing, as Riv called it.

Is It Love?

OR the first time that day amusement touched Sue Ellen. "Guess who's talking to Aunt Car?"

"I never guess. Some sick neighbor, I suppose—that's all. Aunt Car thinks about trying away the supply to give someone, when we need every useful we can get for ourselves."

"This man doesn't look funny."

"Who is he?"

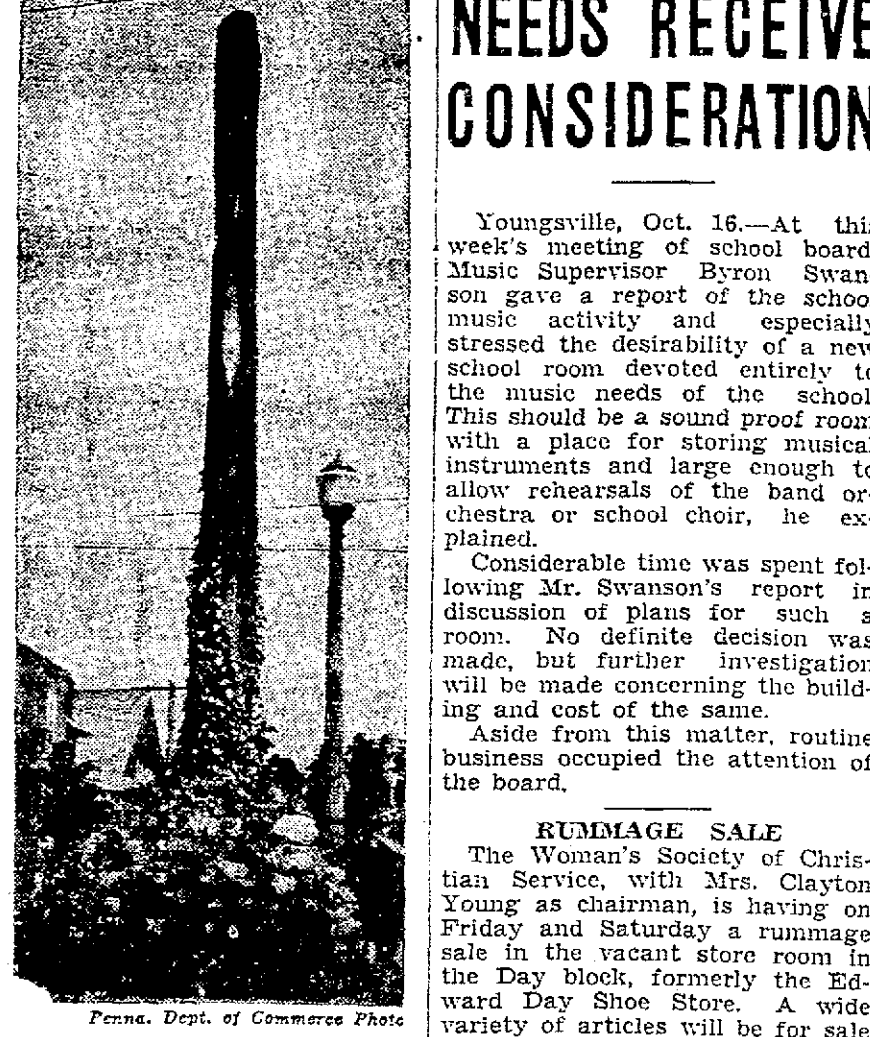

Sue Ellen slipped into a chair and raised her eyebrows. "A draftee from Camp Shelby. Father was an old sweetheart of Aunt Car's."

Aunt Pleas collapsed on a chair, plump hands dropping her head on the kitchen floor.

"Yes, Johnny Harris. Probably," said Sue Ellen scornfully. "Aunt Car will ask him to supper."

But Aunt Car did not ask Johnny Harris to supper. They heard the door close. Aunt Car beamed, her soft cheeks flushed,

Standing Stone

Huntingdon, once the village of Standing Stone in Indian days named from a long stone which stood nearby, has preserved this touch of early Pennsylvania days. A replica of the old stone, shown above, has been erected on the main street.

Mayburg

Stage for History's Greatest Battles

Hundreds of airplanes, thousands of tanks and millions of men are clashing in the greatest battles of history on the roads leading to Moscow. How few towns actually stand between the German armies and the Russian capital is shown on map spotting scenes of major engagements.

SCHOOL MUSIC NEEDS RECEIVE CONSIDERATION

Youngsville, Oct. 16.—At this week's meeting of school board, Music Supervisor Byron Swanson gave a report of the school music activity and especially stressed the desirability of a new school room devoted entirely to the music needs of the school. This should be a sound proof room with a place for storing musical instruments and large enough to allow rehearsals of the band orchestra or school choir, he explained.

Considerable time was spent following Mr. Swanson's report in discussion of plan for such a room. No definite decision was made, but further investigation will be made concerning the building and cost of the same.

Aside from this matter, routine business occupied the attention of the board.

RUMMAGE SALE

The Woman's Society of Christian Service, with Mrs. Clayton Young as chairman, is having on Friday and Saturday a rummage sale in the vacant store room in the Day block, formerly the Edward Day Shoe Store. A wide variety of articles will be for sale and at bargain prices.

HALLOWEEN

Hallowe'en is just round the corner and the Student Council is already making plans for a big "stunt night" community Hallowe'en party on Thursday evening, October 30. Business men, particularly the merchants, are planning to act as host to the pupils of six grades at a party to be held in the school building on Friday evening, October 31st.

DORCAS CLASS

The Dorcas Class of the Methodist church met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Bell Kay, with Mrs. R. H. Knapp as assisting hostess. The newly elected president, Mrs. Oscar Johnson, presided at the business session and led in short devotions. Plans were made for sending a Christmas box to a mountain school in the south, and announcement of definite needs will be made in the church school class next Sunday. The class also decided to meet some of its financial needs by the selling of Christmas cards. The committee provided a most interesting program of contests including the writing of a book by the group. Dainty refreshments were served, bringing out the Hallowe'en motif.

LIGHT FOR GAME

Youngsville High School will meet Clarion High School on the Irvine club house athletic field at 7:30 p. m. Saturday evening, Oct. 18. Flood lights will be set up for the game which promises to be very close. Clarion has a strong football team and Youngsville, except for the game with Warren high school, has an unbeaten record for the season.

PERTIGS: Mrs. O. M. Rossey and son, Leo, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Merchant, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Howard and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Deshner and daughter, all attended church at Townline Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dobson and daughter, Carol, of Bradford, called at Merchants late Sunday afternoon.

Miss Violet Barton, of Tionesta, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barton. On Saturday they were shopping out to Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McCool and sons, of Henry's Mills, visited on Sunday evening at the Charles Barton home.

Mrs. George Shepard came to Y., where she visited last week with her daughters, Mrs. Dan Sibbie and Mrs. John Childress.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS

Men who have served with tank units of the National Guard or the U. S. Army and men who have had at least two years of paid experience with bulldozers or tractors on heavy construction jobs may file in the examination now open for Tank Test Driver, the U. S. Civil Service Commission announced today.

Persons appointed from this examination will be paid $6.16 a day and will be stationed at Berwick, Pennsylvania, and Eddyville, Pennsylvania.

Applications must be on file before the close of business on October 29, 1941, with the manager, Third U. S. Civil Service District, Customhouse, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Copies of the announcement and application forms may be obtained from the secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at first- and second-class post offices in the states of Pennsylvania and Delaware; or the manager, Third U. S. Civil Service District.

STREAMLINED STEEL "IGLOOS" HOUSE

U. S. TROOPS MANNING ARCTIC OUTPOST

The recent seizure of a Nazi radio station in Greenland once more focuses the spotlight upon America's Arctic outposts. The photos above, just arrived in the U. S. by transatlantic clipper, show activities of U. S. troops in Iceland. At left, above, U. S. infantry is seen climbing up the quayside as it debarks from the transport. This unit was reported to be unusually well equipped with every form of material, including planes. The doughboys will be quartered in "igloos" of wood and corrugated steel sheets. At right, top, U. S. Marines and British soldiers are seen erecting the strange-looking shacks. North or south, east or west, "chow" is the all-important word to a soldier man. At bottom, right, Americans are pictured getting a snack on the quay just after landing.

With Our Boys In North Carolina

By Special Correspondence

Special Correspondence to the Times-Mirror
October 12 1941.

Wow, what a week. We have been in some warm places and hiked some long hikes but we nearly round our match on our first five-day maneuver which we took part in last week. At 7:00 Monday morning we pulled out of camp with combat packs and the usual toilet articles and such that the infantry soldier carries with him on such a maneuver. At noon that day we say that the sun was about 200 degrees but the official report was just a little over 100 degrees, but with those lovely woolen uniforms it was really quite a warm day. The company reached its bivouac area at approximately 4:00 p. m. and although some of the boys had to fall out they all made it in to the bivouac area by nightfall and everything seemed to go off all right for them, other than a little sun sickness and it must be admitted that they were all a very tired bunch of fellows.

The next day, which was Tuesday, the men had it rather easy and lounged around the larger part of the day waiting for orders as to when they were to attack. That night the men received orders to move and they all enticed and were moved into their shooting off position. After setting up the various outposts and such that are needed in a position of this kind the men were told to rest as much as possible and they were there until 4:30 a. m. when breakfast was served by our very able kitchen crew. They then marched toward the enemy advance until the main highway running between what is known as Clark's store and Mt. Graham was reached. The company front at this point was covering about a mile and a mining line was built up to this extent. Upon contacting the enemy they were in the act of blowing up a bridge whereupon a surprise attack was immediately put into effect and the plot was foiled in the infancy and thus concluded the first stage of the battle as the objective of the blue forces had been taken for that part of the battle.

After completing this stage of the battle the troops were assembled and a great concentration of troops was under way for the next phase of the battle. Perhaps one of the largest concentrations ever seen in modern warfare was made up that day and they soon were moving the various organizations taking part in the battle to a new assembly area where they spent some time after detaching. It was soon discovered that the men were in too dangerous a position to spend Wednesday night in so they marched back over the same road they had just ridden up for a distance of five miles and there was even more dust in the world than along that road that night it cannot be even imagined. As the men went on their way on that march with their gas masks on and it was a very toll one journey. Upon reaching their bivouac area the men then received their rolls and spent the remainder of Wednesday night and the better part of Thursday in the area. Thursday night saw another forced march which lasted for about four hours which ended in a bivouac area. One of the most dreaded of all marches in the infantry. During this march flank patrols were sent out and all of these patrols are sent out to guard the flanks of the line of march and they are quite a necessity to ward off surprise attacks by the enemy. At 11:55 p. m. Thursday night the enemy was contacted and some of the enemy patrols which were sent out were captured by the blue forces but no exact information could be obtained from them and the attack on the enemy went on as planned by the blue forces. Friday the objective of the blue army was taken and the battle was over. However, it is the belief of several of the men that if the battle had continued for six more hours the blue forces would have lost, but as it was they put up such a terrible onslaught that the Red forces were completely overwhelmed and the battle was won.

On Friday evening the men were all enticed and brought back to base camp where they all got a good night's sleep and were tiring to go on their weekend passes. However, luck was against one platoon of "I" Company as their truck broke down on the way in and they had to bivouac all Friday night in the woods until morning when a reserve truck came and picked them up and brought them in to camp tired but happy.

We will sign off with this thought that no matter how tough the going gets "I" Company will always be there fighting and nothing can stop the boys from starting. A more detailed account of what took place in the Warren Times-Mirror for the straight dope on our maneuvers.

Dragons At Franklin For Fracas With Nursery Tomorrow

Favored to Resume Winning Ways and Cop Sixth Decision of Season in Scrap Tomorrow

Set for, and expecting a hard battle at Franklin tomorrow afternoon, the Warren High School Dragons went through light drills this afternoon in final preparation for their battle with a dangerous, though non-victorious Nursery eleven.

Practicing a pass defense and leaning up the loose ends of their ground attack which wasn't impressive against Jamestown last week, the Blue and White hope to be adequately set to cop their sixth decision in eight starts this season, thus assuring them of winning the majority of the eleven games on this campaign's schedule.

Franklin, beaten in four successive battles, came into its own last week against Sharpville and breaks paved the way to each of three Sharpville touchdowns. The Nursery gridder's threatened at three intervals to score but never could quite hit pay dirt, though the team was much improved from any previous showing it had made this season.

In going into the Franklin game, the Dragons will once again gain the role of underdog, but it is hard this week and warned them against overconfidence.

If the contest against the Nursery can be called easy, it will be the last such fracas left on the Dragons' schedule. For a week from tomorrow, the improved Bradford

What Happens to Ball Players When Season is Finished

WAR HINDERING PLANS OF ICE HOCKEY LOOPS

New York, Oct. 17.—(P)—Hockey in the United States is beginning to feel the crimp of Canadian war restrictions.

Nearly all the players both in the National League and in the minors in this country are Canadians and all the measures which affect them in their homeland therefore reach out and touch the hockey addicts in the United States.

Up till now the hockey stars have been limited in the amount of their salaries which they could keep or spend in this country, but they could come and go as they pleased and they could take their military training in installments.

But this year passports have become more difficult to obtain and hockey officials have been unable to get any all-inclusive permission for their players to take part in the forthcoming league schedules.

The divisional war service boards of Manitoba and Saskatchewan have refused to grant authority for passports to hockey players and the Manitoba board declared to alter its position yesterday after a conference with Frank Calder, president of the National League.

Barker Calls Northwestern, Navy, Texas Aggies, Georgia Saturday's Best Grid Bets

New York, Oct. 16.—(P)—Just a shot in the football arm (serving the shot in the arm for Saturday night):

Northwestern-Michigan: The game of the week-between two unbeaten, untied Western Conference outfits. Northwestern has a bushel of backs, all good, but the Wildcat line may, or may not, be something else again. We'll take Northwestern, but there are safer investments.

Navy-Cornell: And here's another one where somebody's perfect record will become fond memory. But the Tars seem to have so much scoring punch and so much material, this vote for Navy is almost automatic.

Texas Christian-Texas A. and M.: And still another one of the same class. Christian has been winning the close ones. A. and M. hasn't been tested. This one ought to tell the story. The Aggies.

Columbia-Georgia: None tougher to figure. Columbia's unbeaten and untied. Georgia's been tied by Mississippi. Columbia's smart and boasts a tricky, effective offense but the Lions lack Georgia's manpower. This uncertain ballot goes to Georgia.

Villanova-Baylor: The Bears come north with one of the great backs of the year in Jack Wilson. Villanova may be one of the East's best but hasn't proved it yet. The coin spins and says Baylor in this test of unbeaten, untied teams.

Vanderbilt-Georgia Tech: Might be scoring fireworks here. Vanderbilt to remain unbeaten.

Mississippi-Texas: Where's the adding machine? Minnesota.

Texas-Arkansas: No reason to get off the Texas bandwagon.

Santa Clara-Michigan State: A long trip for Michigan State and a probable beating. Santa Clara.

Rice-Louisiana State: There's no choice here but Rice, conqueror of Tulane.

Duke-Clemson: Looks safe for Duke.

Ohio State-Purdue: Ohio State Nebraska-Indiana: That Husker defense looks tough and Indiana's unlucky. Nebraska.

Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech: Should be on a workout for Notre Dame.

Penn-Princeton: The Tigers haven't shown anything to rate them a chance against powerful Penn which is the heavy choice.

Temple-Penn State: Probably close, but this vote goes to Andy Tomasic and Temple.

Yale-Army: The nod goes to Yale.

Harvard-Dartmouth: Jumping on the Dartmouth bandwagon.

Tennessee-Alabama: Out of the hat, Alabama.

Tulane-North Carolina: The Tarheels are tough but Tulane gets the nod.

Auburn-Southern Methodist: Like the Mustangs of S. M. U.

Wisconsin-Iowa: Iowa.

Iowa State-Missouri: Could be close. Missouri.

Marquette-Kansas State: Marquette.

Kansas State-Oklahoma: Oklahoma.

Oregon-California: Oregon.

Washington-U. C. L. A.: The Huskies are on the track again. Washington.

Southern California-Washington State: This vote, extremely doubtful, goes to Washington State.

Sanford-San Francisco: Taking Stanford.

Fordham-West Virginia: Fordham.

Holy Cross-Mississippi: Mississippi.

New York University-Syracuse: Syracuse.

Maryland-Florida: Florida.

North Carolina State-Wake Forest: Wake Forest.

BOWLING CHATTER

HONOR ROLL
At Arcade
Adolphson 217
At Elks
Budd 216
Bard 256
Waples 213

Oct. Boyd was responsible for the smashing of one of three records last night at the Elks, ending out 256 in a single game to better his own previous mark of 227.

Waples of Beckley, who had a total replaced Russ Budd's 539. The Pontiacs, with whom both Budd and Boyd bowl, set a new high game mark also, stamping out their own previous record of 174 and inserting 248.

Thad Lawson tells us, among other things, that he's looking for some consistent bowlers with averages around 140 or 160 to make up a team and replace the Sherwood Refinery in the Commercial League that team giving up the ghost.

Warren's only entry in the Inter-City League, meets the Lafayette Line at Bradford on Sunday and will be seeking its first triumph of the campaign, being beaten here last week by Montague's Grills of Jamestown.

Judging by the number at the alleys every afternoon this week, the ladies are turning out fast to bowling this year. Many more have been seen on the slides, lots of new faces, than were noticed by this agent last fall-winter. Possibly another ladies' league may be formed soon, if the interest doesn't die out.

Which reminds us, thinking yesterday was Friday we had the new ladies league opening a night before they should have. They really got under way tonight following the K. of C. entertainment.

And the fourth sponsor is Miller's, not Betty Lee—pardon us, please!

By the way, if you really want to see a match where there's plenty of competition, watch the editorial staff of this paper some night about five at the Arcade where there's bowling over. Such celebrities as Bob Johnson, Howie Clark, "Sparky" Saylor and your agent are already in the fold. Does the Ladies' League need another team?

Duquesne, St. Vincent Battle Away Tonight

Pittsburgh, Oct. 16.—(P)—Duquesne's Iron Dukes, seeking their ninth straight victory and 19th out of 21 starts in the past three years, were heavy favorites for their last 1941 home night game against St. Vincent's Scarcats at Forbes Field tonight.

Acting Coach Steve Sinko planned to use again the starting lineup that raced through Manhattan for two touchdowns in less than five minutes last week. Phil Ahwesh and Joe Chandonic, first and second string left halfbacks respectively, are recuperating from leg injuries and are about ready for action, but Sinko may keep them on the shelf for tougher assignments ahead.

Sheffield Host to Johnnies Tomorrow

A nifty bit of grid entertainment will be in store for sectional fans close by tomorrow afternoon when the Johnsonburg Johnnies invade Sheffield to battle Joe Massie's Wolverine squad.

Both schools boasting strong teams, the Johnnies are slightly favored but the Wolverines have been able to upset the done bucket before during this campaign and will be rated dangerous opponents to no that again following the kickoff slated for 2:30 o'clock.

SPORT SPATTERINGS

FORMER JACKET LINEMEN MAY PLAY AT AKRON SUNDAY; BOXING FINDS NEW LOW FOR LACK OF INTEREST IN ATHLETICS

A couple of former Red Jacket players may be back in the fold for Sunday's encounter at Akron against the strong South Akron Awnings, who are undefeated in their past 23 starts. And both now mentioned by the club, tentatively set to make the trip, are linemen who stood out on last year's team. Willard Zerbe, who with Francis Siriani, kept the coals smoldering last fall in this community when the enthusiastic fire of semi-pro football had nearly died out, plans to be able to make the journey and play at either a guard or tackle post for the Jackets. He has been able to get into two games so far this season, the first being two weeks ago Sunday against Trafford, and the other being the night game at Cory against Aliquippa. The other linemen, and one who will never be forgotten by Red Jacket fans, for he gave them some of the finest play in the forward wall ever exhibited on Russell Field, is Dugan Parsellie, former Jamestown high school star, who stood out like a sore thumb in the Jacket lineup last season. In the army now, Parsellie is reported to be home on leave and his services will come to the Jackets like a Christmas gift to a small child. Incidentally, in both contests in which Zerbe played the Jackets tied their opponents; if they can hold Akron to a tie, this corner will be more than satisfied.

What with Joe Louis now temporarily out of action in the ring, though there were few times ever when he had very much inside the ropes, interest in the business of boxing has hit a new low. Not sport now at all, but not expected to change too rapidly. Not since Louis injured the hypodermic shot he carried in his right paw to put the game back in the spotlight, has the mauling art of modified murder been down for the count, but it is now, and even the promoters reluctantly admit it. The Nova-Louis, Jenkins-Cochrane fescos are pointed to as being mainly responsible, and rightly so. Louis and Billy Conn now remain as the only master ring mechanics at this time, and nobody doubts they can fix anything in the business. There aren't any Kilbanes, Welshes, McFarlands, Brittons or Pete Hermans. As Harry Grayson put it recently, fighters today typify the times. Everybody is in such a hurry that nobody has time to learn the profession. That's more than just right for managers today are guilty of being too reckless with proteges who could be good. Fight pilots are more concerned with interesting promoters and matchmakers in their fighters, getting scraps that net good cabbage, than they are in teaching the fundamentals to a crop of husky, but ignorant (so far as boxing goes) scrappers.

Passenger Picks 'Em Dept. . . . We'll probably get wrecked if these aren't all correct, but here goes . . . Collegiate, and dear readers, this is no breeze . . . Alabama over Tennessee looks good for a starter . . . Duke to topple Colgate, and that ain't no cinch . . . Dartmouth to top Harvard . . . Georgia Tech to trample Vanderbilt . . . Holy Cross over Mississippi . . . Wisconsin over Iowa . . . Rice to nudge L. S. U. Michigan should take Northwestern but, being hailed the top game on Saturday's program, not by more than six points . . . Minnesota will ride over Pitt, another setup . . . Ohio State to take Purdue . . . Penn to wallop Princeton . . . Penn State over Temple . . . S. M. U. over Auburn . . . Sanford to come back against San Francisco . . . Texas should smother Arkansas . . . Navy over Cornell and the Army to edge Yale, though the Bulldogs may bite us for this . . . And now on the scholastic program, winners only this week . . . Academy, Vincent, Jamestown, Youngsville, Salamanca, New Castle, Grove City, Ash-tabula, East, and last but not least, we'll wager, in final scores, the reliable Dragons have let us down but once all season, last week against a whale of a team.

30,000 to See Tech, Irish Play Tomorrow

Pittsburgh, Oct. 17.—(P)—Despite the almost certain one-sidedness of the contests, upwards of 30,000 are expected at the stadium tomorrow to sit in on the final game between powerful Notre Dame and battered Carnegie Tech—two old rivals who used to draw 60,000 to 70,000.

Most of the Tartan regulars were badly banged up in the Muhlberg battle last week, and two star performers, Virgil Cantini and Johnny Anderson, will be definitely out of the picture tomorrow.

Notre Dame's squad of 40 players planned to establish headquarters at St. Vincent College, Latrobe, today. They won't make an appearance here until Saturday noon.

Punts and Passes

By the Associated Press
Los Angeles—Joe Milakis would be one of the top tackles of the Pacific Coast if he would only get fighting mad says Line Coach Bernie Bradley of Loyola.

Bradley has a solution, though. I tell one of my boys to punch Joe on the jaw early in the game and point out the fellow playing opposite him as the culprit. It usually works.

Notre Dame, Ind.—The student body at Notre Dame has voted the Irish's game with Navy at Baltimore November 8 the "student trip." This means 500 or 600 undergrads and a 100-piece band will make the jaunt and also make a comprehensive sight-seeing tour of Washington, D. C.

Fort Worth, Tex.—Dutch Meyer, coach of Texas Christian's Horned Frogs, likes the new unrestricted substitution rule.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Oct. 17.—(The Special News Service)—Arkansas U. which admits being in the south-west conference doghouse, is aiming to outdo the other six by signing up 1,600 volunteer coaches at rates from $1 for end coaches to $25, or what have you, to be a coach of the "volks." . . . and then, says drum beater Johnnie Porter, "watch our fur fly" . . . Stan Benjamin, the Phillies outfielder, is keeping in shape by helping Coach Framingham (Mass.) high, the captain in 1932. . . . Mayon Padlo, the Philly welterweight puncher, was given up for dead five years ago when a heater exploded and burned him.

Today's Guest Star
Carter (Scoop) Latimer, Greenville (S.C.) News: "What was thought to be a pumpkin on our scooperoo ranch yesterday turned out to be the lost football which Booty Payne kicked in Boston and it rolled to South Carolina."

Take-a-Chance, Dept.
Judging by last week's results, the best football pick this time would be to pick a seat in the last row and keep quiet . . . But with utter abandon we'll take Villanova over Baylor for tonight's slug in the dark and Navy over Cornell, Nebraska over Texas, Northwestern over Colgate, Texas Christian over the Aggies and Santa Clara over Michigan State for the Saturday toughies. . . . No questions, please.

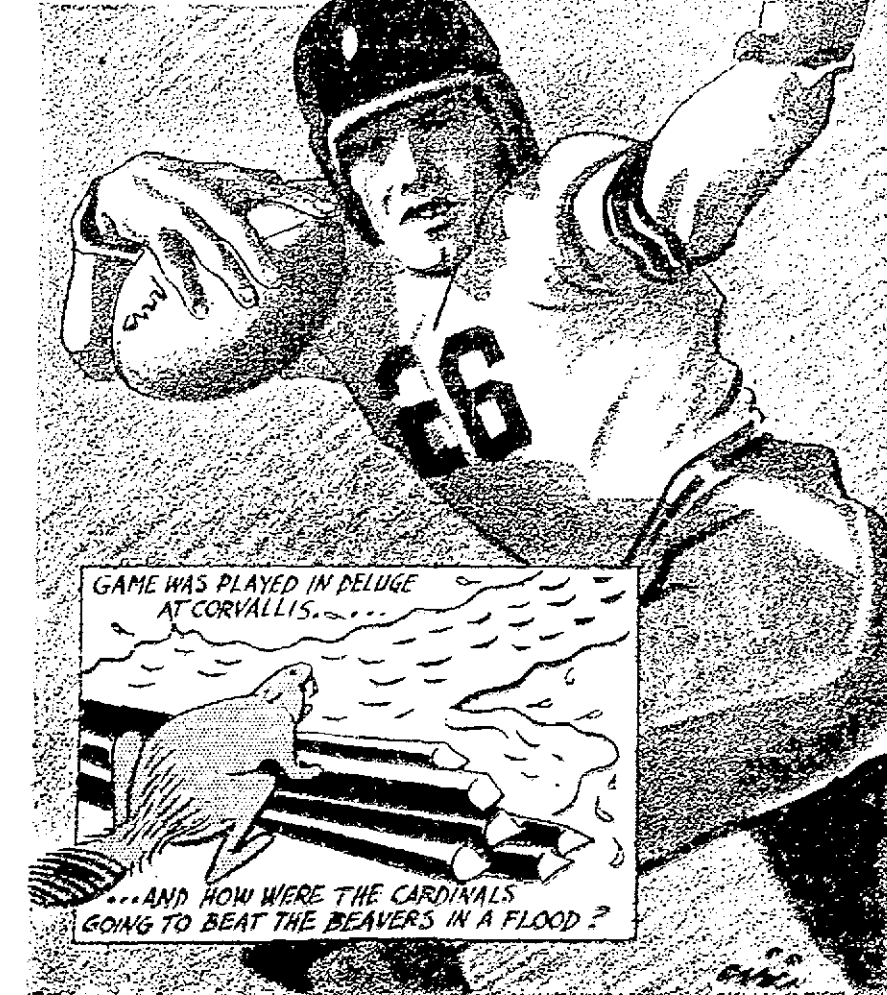

Give Him the Bird
Nile Kinnick, the last guy to beat the Gophers, was scouting Minnesota for Iowa Saturday. When he spotted Don Griffin, Illinois sophomore star, he remarked: "I know just how he feels. Going into your first conference game you can feel a flaming flutter in your stomach." . . . Someone reminded him that Griffin had to break in against Minnesota and Nile corrected himself—"make it two flamings." . . . Don Griffin, who couldn't get back his old job with the Cardinals last season, says he won't play minor league ball any more because there's no money in it. . . . W. B. Triner tried to scratch Plumita out of her last two races at Agua Caliente but was burned down by the racing secretary . . . And Plumita was both races. Unpires in the New Orleans commercial softball league have formed a team of their own, which they call the "nine blind mice."

The Old School Try
When Galesburg (Ill.) high school "pony" team scored a touchdown against Moline last Saturday, fullback Don Williams tried a line plunge for the point and didn't make it. . . . But Moline was offside and he got another chance. . . . That time Galesburg had man in motion and was set back five yards. . . . On the third effort Williams missed connections on pass but Moline again was offside. . . . Finally Williams ran the end and failed to score. Moline won the game 14-6.

Sugar Grove

Sugar Grove, Oct. 14.—Mrs. Car-rie H. Davis, who celebrated her eightieth birthday Sunday, was honored by a dinner party at her home, arranged by her daughter Mrs. J. P. Lore, of Beaver, Pa.

Guests were Mrs. Ida Dalrymple and Miss Maude Dalrymple, of Akron, O.; Mrs. Clara Macon, of Cleveland, O.; Miss Mabel Siggins, Mrs. Grace Siggins, Mrs. Maude Smith and Quinn Smith, of War-ren, and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Lore and daughter, Caroline, of Beaver.

The guest of honor received over eighty cards and many nice gifts of flowers and other things, among them an orchid corsage and three birthday cakes. Many friends called during the day.

Mrs. Davis enjoys good health and is active in the affairs of the Presbyterian church and the clubs and organizations of which she is a member. Mrs. Macon is a cousin of Mrs. Davis, whom she had never met, and which made the occasion an especially happy renewal for the Warren relatives and Mrs. Davis.

An F. P. A. meeting was held in the school building Friday noon to elect officers, who are: Presi-dent, Robert Sanders, of the senior class; vice president, Gail Deck-er, junior class; secretary, Francis Nelson, senior class; treasurer, Richard Sanders, junior; reporter, Russell Thompson, sophomore class; watchdog, Raymond Law-son, Jr.; T. R. Sponsler, F. P. A. advisor.

Mrs. E. H. Thorpe entertained the Bridge Club Monday evening. Three tables of bridge were played with Mrs. Conrad Youngberg receiving high score.

The fire company was called out Monday noon to extinguish a grass fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Furlogh on Jamestown street.

Mrs. Dora Skinner, of Freus-burg, has been a recent guest of her sister, Mrs. Hugh Miller and family.

Rev. Carl Perrin and Rev. John McCleary left Monday noon for a business trip to Macon, Mo.

Mrs. Idabel Bleakley, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Warner, and sons Robert and Wendell, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Scott and daughter Ruth Ann, Mrs. Winifred Bolin and Milton McClellan were guests at a dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson at Cory Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. I. Mickelson and daughter Phyllis, and Mrs. Catherine Carr, of Youngsville, spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Van Horn at South Greensburg. The occasion was the birthday of Mrs. Mickelson.

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Barlow left Saturday for their winter home in Bradenton, Fla.

Mrs. Jennie Weisbrodt, Mrs. Dan Jaquith, Mrs. J. A. Nobbs, Mrs. Robert Bickert and Mrs. Walter Kelley attended the northwest-ern district meeting of Rebekahs at Emporium Saturday.

Miss Ruth Schoonover was the weekend guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Schoonover.

Mrs. Margaret Bindley is the guest of her sister Mrs. Ed Finlan, at Youngsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Dorman and Mr. and Mrs. David Leiberg, of Jamestown, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Anderson of Lakewood, were Sat-urday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lake.

Mrs. Margaret Pickard, of Bemus Point, has been the guest of her mother Mrs. Catherine Frank.

Mrs. Frank Millsap accompa-nied her son Leland and family to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Inwood and family, of Fredonia, spent the weekend with their father, S. G. Barnes.

Mr. and Mrs. James Boyer and daughter, Sandra, were Sunday guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Millsap at Starbuck. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs.

Leland Millsap and daughter Bon-nie, of Windridge, and Luther Mil-sap, who is in the air corps of the U. S. Army and expects to leave soon for England.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Conklin and son Donald, of Hamburg, N. Y., were recent guests of their par-ents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conklin.

Dr. and Mrs. T. R. Shropp of Cumberland, Md.; Eugene Smith of Haegerstown, Md. and Mr. and Mrs. Alon Smith, of Warren; Miss Frances Williams and Dr. G. G. Taylor, of New Wilmington, Pa., were called here Sunday evening by the sudden death of their moth-er and sister, Mrs. G. A. Smith.

The entire community is morned by the death of Mrs. Smith who had made many friends in past ten years since coming to Sugar Grove.

Mrs. J. A. McIntosh will be hostess to the Hill and Dale Gar-den Club, at her home Wednesday, October 22. She will be assisted by Miss Josephine Ricker, Mrs. C. L. Eckardt and Mrs. Paul Lindell.

Mrs. Carrie Smith entertained the Friendly Circle Club, Thurs-day, Forest at her home Thursday.

Fifteen members of the club from the North Road, Stillwater and Turnpike and nine invited guests who were former residents of that neighborhood, were present. Mrs. D. H. Goggin, of Jamestown, and Mrs. Alice Lowe, of Warren, were out of town guests. Dinner was served from the well filled baskets at one o'clock, followed by a short business meeting called to order by the president, Mrs. Sam Carr. Games and contests were enjoyed with Mrs. Harold Pelton winning the prize.

The remainder of the time was spent in visiting with old friends and schoolmates. Before depart-ing for their homes Mrs. Smith was given a rising vote of thanks for the delightful day.

Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Phillips are the parents of a son, born Oc-tober 9, at the Jamestown Gen-eral Hospital.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Howard at the W. C. A. Hospital, October 6.

Mrs. A. A. Grant entertained the N. F. Club and several guests Wednesday night. Four tables of bridge were played with prizes going to Miss Mary Holden, Mrs. Gerald Miller and Mrs. Clarence Sherrard. The hostess served dainty refreshments.

COMPOSURE IS SHOWN BY MART

New York, Oct. 17.—(A.P.)—Wall Street markets showed outward composure today in the face of further events which tended to in-crease rather than allay the war fears of speculative contingents.

Stocks recorded modest gains at the opening then shifted into un-even territory. Narrow advances and declines were about even near the close. Turnover was fairly small.

SHEFFIELD HAS DEFENSE SCHOOL ANOTHER YEAR

Sheffield, Oct. 16.—L. O. Eisen-hauer, principal of the high school and local director of the national defense training school for out-of-school youths conducted here last school term, announced yesterday that the state has approved a similar training project for Sheffield for this term.

Authorized in the approval is the establishment of six different classes in five different subjects, as follows: 1—Electricity. 2—Metal work (machine shop). 3—Welding, electric and acetylene. 4—Woodwork. 5—Automotive mechanics.
Metal work is the course in which establishment of two classes has been authorized.

In making the announcement,
Mr. Eisenhauer said that the courses are open to all young men who are out of school and who are 17 years of age or over, with maximum age limit declared this year.
He also announced that a minimum number of 10 students to each class is essential to establishing said class.

All that is required now to get the classes under way is the necessary number of students. Application blanks are available at the high school office, and all persons who desire to enroll for training are urged to obtain one of the forms, fill it in and return it to the designated authority as soon as possible.

County Vocational Supervisor
Henry Wuesthoff, of Warren, is in charge of all such defense projects in Warren county.

SERIOUSLY ILL

Mrs. John Keller is seriously ill in the Warren General Hospital, where she has been a patient since early Tuesday morning. Failing to arise at the usual time that morning, she was found, stricken and unconscious, in bed in her room by her husband who went to investigate when she did not appear.

The physician who was called said she apparently had suffered a stroke. Members of her family said that she had complained in recent days of not feeling well but had never light of her condition and had rejected suggestions that she place herself in a physician's care.

CLASS TO MEET

The Harriet McCamey Bible Class of the Methodist church will meet with Mrs. Mattie Slack Friday evening. All members are urged to attend and to bring with them bibles, etc., as it is planned to sew quilt patches for the Red Cross. Mrs. Mort Camp, Mrs.
Ed Jones, Mrs. Tom Martin, Mrs.
Harry Priest and the hostess comprise the refreshments committee.

JOHNSONBURG COMING

The Johnsonburg High School
Ramblers, champions of the Allegheny Mountain Conference by virtue of their brilliant, undefeated season last year, invade Sheffield
Saturday to do battle with the Wolverines. Sheffield has played the Johnnies 14 times in the past, emerging victorious on just three occasions. The last Wolverine victory over the Ramblers was recorded in 1925 and the best the locals have been able to do since was a 0-0 tie in 1937. Kickoff in Saturday's contest is slated for 2:30 p. m.

Bat-Like Plane May Get in Hitler's Hair

A revolutionary plane that may be a big trump card in America's play for air supremacy gets a testing over Hawthorne, Calif. Bat-shaped machine developed by Northrop Aircraft has no fuselage or tail, employs two engines buried in the wings and driving pusher propellers through 10-foot extension shafts.
